I'm

Verse 1

$c$   $As$

sit - ting in a cab - in and look - ing to the right,

$f$   $B$

fields and trees are pas - sing the win - dow out - side.

$c$   $As$

Sta - tions, towns and peo - ple ap - pear and fade a - way,

$B$   $G$

some - times I be - lieve I'm the on - ly one who'll stay.

Verse 2

$c$   $As$

Pla - ces I have seen yet, peo - ple I have met, their cry - ing, laugh - ing, mour - ning I re - mem - ber in my head.

$f$   $B$

$c$   $As$

Lots of talks and feel - ings that I can still re - call, came and went too quick - ly, but thanks are gi - ven to all. I

$B$   $G$

Chorus  $Es^2$   $Es$   $B$   $c^2$   $c$   $As$ feel that the world is mov-ing. I know there's just one chance. To

$Es^2$   $Es$   $B$   $As^4As$   $Es/B$   $B$   $AsB$

love the one who's next to me, on the train ride to e - ter - ni-ty.

to Verse 3 and Chorus

Bridge  $D$   $g$

Rid-ing night and day through sun and rain and snow, one day the ride seems to be too fast and one day it's too slow.

$F$   $B$

$g$   $Es$

But I can't stop it, this train of life,

$c$   $c/B$   $D^4/A$   $A$

I just can wait and seize the day 'till it ar-rives. I

Chorus  $F^2F$   $C$   $d^2$   $d$   $B$

feel that the world is mov-ing. I know there's just one chance. To

$F^2$   $F$   $C$   $B^4$   $B$   $F/C$   $C$

love the one who's next to me, on the train ride to e - ter - ni-ty.

Verse 3:

Still sitting in that cabin, now looking to the left,
 some people standing close to me but to others there's a gap.
 Who will leave the cabin or even the train in brief?
 And will I be happy or left alone in grief?
